

Dig To Discover!

Archaeologists are like detectives: they observe artefacts to discover clues about the person who once owned it. By piecing together the clues, archaeologists can answer questions about how past civilisations lived.

Draw your artefact.

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the student to draw their own artefact. The box is positioned below the text 'Draw your artefact.' and to the left of the illustration of the archaeologists.

Did you discover anything else?

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the student to write about any other discoveries they made. The box is positioned below the text 'Did you discover anything else?' and occupies the lower half of the page.